

NAT COOMBS BIOGRAPHY

Nat Coombs is a British television presenter, comedian, producer and writer.

With his passion for sports underpinned by his comedic background, Coombs has become one of the leading faces of personality-driven sports entertainment in the UK. He currently presents Talk of the Terrace (ESPN), a weekly live studio show (Mondays, 6.30pm) that takes an irreverent look at the Premier League and the wider world of football.

He anchors both Major League Baseball & NFL Live on BBC Five Live Sports Xtra and is a regular guest on a range of TV and radio shows, adding his leftfield insight and unique take on the world of sports and their pop culture crossover. He contributes regularly to a range of national newspapers and sites, including ESPN.

As one of the main US Sports broadcasters in the UK he presented NFL Live (FIVE) for 3 seasons between 2007-2010. In 2010 he also co-presented NFL : UK (also FIVE) a weekly magazine show, that was shown on Saturday mornings.

Coombs started out as a live stand up, and still writes and produces lots of comedy. He supports West Ham Utd, Miami Dolphins and the Chicago Cubs. His heroes are TS Eliot, Jim Henson and John Candy. His softball team, the Chevy Chasers, lasted one season, but may come out of retirement if the money's right.
